SNEAK THIEVES MAKE SMALL HAUL IN STORE

Police are investigating the robbery of the ten or fifteen dollars worth of tobacco and canned goods from the lunch store of Charles Wadley at the east end of the Fourth avenue bridge on Saturday night or Sunday morning. The thieves gained entrance by pushing in the rear door after removing several nailed boards and helped themselves to several boxes of cigars, plug tobacco and a carton of smoking tobacco, and also took a half dozen cans of sardines. The robbery was reported to the police Monday and search was made for two strangers who had been ordered out of the store on Saturday night, but no trace of them could be found.

U. B. CHURCH ARRANGES PRE-EASTER SERVICES

Special pre-Easter services will be held at the United Brethren church this week. The services will begin tonight and will continue Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Special arrangements have been made with the telephone company to receive election news after the services tonight. All are cordially invited to attend the services.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL PRODUCE THE "TRUTH"

Fitch's Masterpiece to Be Given in Public Sometime in May.

Before the end of the season the Janesville Dramatic Club will produce the play of "Truth," written by Clyde Fitch. Work will be begun immediately on the selection of the cast and rehearsals will start as soon as the cast is chosen. The members of the club have just completed the reading of this play, and after it was finished last evening a motion was made to produce it publicly. The idea met with enthusiasm, everyone expressing the opinion that such a production would meet with more than ordinary success. The fact that it is a modern, up-to-date play dealing with the popular theme of domestic relations, will guarantee it against the usual monotony of seeing worn out productions revived. This is one of Clyde Fitch's cleverest and spiciest writings, and he was a master of dramatic technique and stagecraft. All the members will be responsible for disposing of $5.00 worth of tickets according to the agreement entered into the first part of the year of this club and place of the production have not as yet been determined upon, but a meeting of the executive committee during the course of this week will settle upon the details. Frank D. Hayes was elected business manager of the venture.

The program for the meeting last evening was short but of high interest. A reading of the life of Clyde Fitch and a review of his work was given by Rosemary Enright. The reading of the second and third acts of the play "Truth" was given by a select cast. This was followed by the reading of the play which led the members to the decision to produce it. This undertaking will be the first public entertainment that the club has attempted. Due to the consistent spirit of the members and the enthusiasm that has been demonstrated in taking hold of the work thus far, greatest hopes are entertained for its success. It will take a great deal of work between now and the time when it is finally produced, and tryouts will be held this week. Notice of dates for the tryouts will be given shortly. All those who are interested, and who were not in attendance at the last meeting of the club, will be given instruction as to the time and place of these tryouts shortly.

UNION GOSPEL SERVICES AT M. E. CHURCH TONIGHT.

Holy week meetings for the congregations of the Presbyterian, Congregational, Methodist and Baptist churches will begin with the service at seven-thirty tonight at the Methodist church. The Rev. J. C. Hazen will be the speaker on the subject, "Christ in the Home." The schedule for the remainder of the week is as follows:

April 7—Methodist Church, "Christ in the Home," Rev. J. C. Hazen.

April 8—Baptist Church, "Christ in the Social Life," Rev. G. E. Parloe.

April 9—Congregational Church, "Christ in the Business Life," Rev. T. D. Williams.

April 10—Presbyterian Church, "Christ in the Heart," Rev. S. A. Klader.

LA FOLLETTE COHORTS MAY DECIDE ON OWEN FOR McGOVERN JOB

In the discussion among politicians on the special session, the name of Walter C. Owen, attorney general, has been very generally discussed as a possibility in the campaign for governor. Owen took a large part in the work of asking the special meeting, and the letters sent out to the town clerks have been signed with his name. It is possible that such strong pressure may be brought upon him that he will come out and make the run. Owen is one of the most prominent of the La Follette leaders. Before his election in 1912 as attorney general, he served two terms in the state senate, representing Pierce and St. Croix counties. He was engaged in the practice of law at Maiden Rock following his graduation from the law school of the university in 1901, with the exception of one year, which he spent in practice in Superior in partnership with Charles Crownhart, present industrial commissioner.

BATTLE OF SHILOH WAS FIFTY-TWO YEARS AGO

Monday, April 6, Marked Anniversary of Bloody Battle in Which Janesville Men Took Part.

According to Lieut. Col. J. A. Watrous in the Milwaukee Sentinel the battle of Shiloh will always be remembered among the great battles of the civil war. It began fifty-two years ago Monday morning April 6, and lasted the better part of two days. For many years the public was led to believe that the Union army was surprised, but there are a few writers who make that claim in these days.

Grant Lays Plans.

It was Gen. Grant's second great battle. He had planned it well but some portions of the plan miscarried. Gen. Lew Wallace's large army was given orders in ample time to reach the main force and lend aid in the first day's fighting, but took the wrong road, did not move as rapidly as needed, and spent considerable time resting. It was of no service the first day. Gen. Buell, commander of the army of the Ohio, was ordered to hurry to join Gen. Grant, but bad roads and other causes prevented his reaching his destination with all of his troops the first day.

The absence of Wallace and nearly all of Buell's army prevented, it is believed, a crowning victory on April 6. The next day, after hard fighting, the confederates were forced back to their original line and then completely routed. Their commander, Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, who, it is believed, was a second Robert E. Lee, was killed. The battle ended during the two days numbered—Union, 13,573; confederate, 10,699; total, 24,272.

Wisconsin was represented at Shiloh by the Fourteenth, Col. D. E. Woods. Sixteenth, Col. Ben Allen; and the Eighteenth, Col. J. S. Alban. Col. Alban was killed. Lieut. Col. S. W. Beall, a former lieutenant governor of the state, wounded, and Major George H. Allen, all of the Eighteenth. The regiment lost, in killed, 25; wounded, 91. Capt. Gabe Bouck of the Second regiment was made colonel to succeed Col. Alban.

Sixteenth, Losses 76.

The Sixteenth lost 14 killed and 149 wounded. Former Senators N. L. and D. G. James of Richland Center, of the Sixteenth, were in the battle. The Fourteenth lost—killed, 20; wounded, 72. It was the first battle for the three regiments. The Eighteenth was drilled by company but slightly and never as a regiment. All three were highly praised for their conduct under fire. It was in this battle that the Fourteenth was given the name of "The Fourteenth Wisconsin Regulars." It charged and captured a confederate battery. One of the guns is at Madison. These three Wisconsin regiments were in many battles and always maintained the good record they made when green troops, in their first great battle. It was at Shiloh that Lieut. Col. Cassius F. Smith, brother of Gen. Sherman, received a wound from which he never recovered.

CONGO FIVE DEFEAT METHODIST QUINTET IN ONE-SIDED GAME

Favorites in Title Match Fail to Get Started and Game Results in Walkaway—Score 37 to 12.

The favorites in the battle for the championship of the church league lost last evening at the high school gymnasium, and the dark horse team proved to be the winners after a one-sided combat. The Methodists could not get their start, and were forced to concede the aggressiveness of the Congo five by the score of 37 to 12.

A crowd that numbered close to six hundred people, representing all church denominations throughout the city, were present and made good use of their vocal cords. The Methodists comprised the largest representation of rooters of the entire assemblage.

The Congo five were at their best and played their best game of the year last night. On the other hand, it must be admitted, and is admitted by the crowd in general, that the Methodists put up a tame fight and failed to show their usual class of basketball. They lacked all speed and aggressiveness and were poor on teamwork. The game was marred somewhat owing to the fact that the east basket was broken early in the first half. To give each team an even chance the lines changed goals four times during the conflict.

"Chub" Williams was the star for the Methodists. He made eight of the twelve points scored, while Rummage scored the other four. Capt. Richards was a disappointment to the crowd. He was expected to star, but Brown's wonderful guarding was an obstacle in his way. In the game last night, Brown's shade was the best ever in the league.

The end of the first half was 8 to 15 in favor of the Congo five. The Methodists took a spurt in the second half, but soon fell by the wayside, almost at will. The final score was 37 to 12. Both teams fought, but the Congo five were the best trained by a long way. The lineup and score is as follows:

Methodists—Williams, r. f.; Rummage, l. f.; Capt. Richards, c.; Brown, l. g.; Beard, r. g.

Congo five—Weirick, l. f.; W. Craig, r. f.; Brown, c.; Lee, l. g.; Taylor, r. g.; L. Craig, sub.

Field Goals—Williams 3, Rummage 1, Craig 3, Weirick 6, Lee 1, Brown 6, Free Throws—Williams 2, Rummage 2, Craig 5.

Time of halves—20 minutes.

Referee—Victor Hemmings, Janesville.

The preliminary game was between the Trinity and Baptist boys, in which the latter barely won, 12 to 7. Hemmings officiated in this game also. The league is now closed until another season.

In picking the all-star teams, first and second selections, from all of the players who participated in the league during the season, a difficult task is not experienced. After a careful survey of all the men, the following picks have been made:

First Team.
L. F. McVie, Presbyterians.
R. F. Williams, Methodists.
C. Brown, Congregationals (Capt.)
L. G. Badger, Baptists.
R. G. Cronin, Catholics.

Second Team.
L. F. Weirick, Congregationals.
R. F. Rummage, Methodists.
C. Richards, Methodists (Capt.)
L. G. Lee, Congregationals.
R. G. Dearborn, Trinity.

MERRICK'S FIVE WIN FROM BIG SIX SQUAD IN BOWLING TOURNEY

Abraham with all his 'Big Six' aggregation fell down before the Semi-Pros, led by Merrick, in their match at Miller's last night. The 'Big Six' losing by 107 points. Merrick showed Abraham in the role of the 'Big Six' a few fadways and after pitching a game with perfect control finished his game with an average of 179% and in the second game won individual honors with 222. The semi-pros lost the first game but after Merrick and Quinn started to line out strikes and pick up spares for putouts, won a side lead in the second time around. Tonight Cook's team and neighbors will go to the mat.

MIDGETS LOST FIRST GAME DURING SEASON

Final Score Was 11 to 8.—Badgers Climb Up In Race by Winning From Cardinals, 20 to 3.

The B. Junior basketball league teams at the Y. M. C. A. held some very interesting games at the building gymnasium Saturday when the Midgets lost their first game of the season to the Maroons, by the close score of 11 to 8, and the Badgers whipped the Cardinals, 20 to 3.

The lineup and scores of both games are as follows:

Maroons—Williams, l. f.; Hogan, r. f.; Persson, c.; Davidson, l. g.; Ryan, r. g.

Midget—Cassidy, l. f.; Denning, r. f.; Lane, c.; Russell, l. g.; Navock, r. g.

Field goals—Hogan, 1; Persson, 1; Cassidy, 2; Williams, 1; Denning, 1; Persson, 1; Cassidy, 1; Denning, 1; Cassidy, 1; Cassidy, 1.

Referee—Yordy.

Scorer and Timer—Davey.

Badgers—Schaller, l. f.; Kober, r. f.; Buell, c.; Kemmet, l. g.; Kimball, r. g.

Field goals—Feirn, 4; Kober, 3; Buell, 1; Sprackling, 1; Kober, 1; Buell, 1.

The standings of the club teams in the league to date is as follows:

Team	W.	L.	Sp.
Midgets	4	1	50
Maroons	3	1	50
Cardinals	1	4	200

Sport Snap Shots

Tom Newman down in Houston, Texas, was the recipient of a smart smack on the back and he lay prone on the ground for a moment or two as a result. Newman is manager of the Houston Texas league team whose grounds the Giants used in spring training. It seems that the affair was the result of some unpleasant remarks that Muggsy had made to Newman the day before and when the two met at the grounds the next day an altercation ensued. So much so indeed that Newman quite lost his temper and hit the Giant chief a resounding whack. Muggsy is unquestionably a great little baseball manager, but he seems to forget that even bush leaguers can swing their mitts. McGraw, by the way, has only recently made offers to buy the Houston franchise.

The team that beats Walter Johnson will get the American league pennant next summer, say those who like to look ahead. Walter is reported to be in such wonderful shape and the Washington Senators are rounding into such neat form that many look forward to seeing the Senators actually give the Athletics an awful tussle. It is pretty generally agreed if Johnson had such an infield behind him as the Athletics pitchers have, he could just about grab the pennant by himself. Griffith has announced to all of his anxious friends that he is going to throw an awful scare into all the opposition.

Many a story has been told of the heroism of Rube Waddell since his recent death and perhaps the most popular of them all is the one where in he worked at the head of a group of men day and night to save the levee from breaking at Hickman, Ky. It was at the time of the big flood last spring that Rube won the admiration and esteem of all who learned of his courage. He had spent the winter with Ford Canfield at Hickman, Ky., and when the river rose and it seemed that the levee was sure to go, Waddell took charge of a volunteer party and worked over fifty hours without rest in an effort to prevent the giving way of the levee. And it was here, that he caught the pneumonia from which he never recovered. It is pretty well known that the Rube was somewhat given to the joys of wine, but it was not this that brought on his demise. In spite of his many eccentricities he was known by all to be most generous and warm hearted.

Harry Clark's Milwaukee Brewers have about the oldest bunch of players in the American Association and they come near copping the honors for senility in all leagues. Clark himself is thirty-one and he has such vets as Jap Barbeau, Tony Cuccinelli, Tom Jones, New Randall, Tom Dougherty, Johnny Hughes and Joe Berg. Young Cy is thirty-six and all the rest of the men are over thirty. Previously the Minneapolis Millers had more vets than the Brewers, but the vets with the Millers grow so old that they had to quit the game.

EARL TIPPET MAKES PICK OF BADGER QUINTET FROM BADGER COLLEGES

Earl Tippet of Appleton, and formerly a Janesville boy, has picked a very good all-star college and normal basketball team. Earl has played football at Lawrence for four years, and basketball for three years, and is about to close a most successful career. He picked the men on their past experience, and present work on the floor. The pick follows:

L. Whitthuhn, Lawrence, center.
Napp, Milwaukee Normal, right forward.
E. Witthuhn, Lawrence, left guard.
Edler, Beloit, right guard.

WEATHER FORECAST

UNCERTAINTY OF LAW.

While law has often been pictured as a blind Goddess, holding aloft the scales of justice and weighing out the merits and demerits of mankind without prejudice, still the fact remains that justice often miscarries. Today we have the striking spectacle of this fact, of one former Police Lieutenant Becker of New York City's famous "strong arm squad," convicted of complicity in the murder of one Rosenthal, sentenced to death in the electric chair, and yet repleveled by a court order on new evidence discovered and with a very good possibility of being freed. With his fate hangs that of four of New York's "gun men," part of a gang of thieves and murderers, as famous in Gotham as are the Apaches of Paris, who still remain in prison in the death cells watching eagerly for news of their fate. In Georgia, a young northerner, is under death sentence for one of the foulest murders possibly conceived, that of a young girl he is alleged to have outraged and then killed to cover his crime. Yet a detective of national reputation asserts the man is not guilty, that he was convicted when the public demanded a victim by perjured evidence and if hung will be sent to his death a guiltless man to meet the demand of the old Mosaic law: "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, and a life for a life." In Chicago the district attorney states it is impossible to convict a woman of a capital crime if she be good looking despite all the evidence that may be produced to show her guilt. A few years ago Judge Landis imposed a fine of $29,000,000 upon the Standard Oil trust and yet the delays of law have been such that they escape payment by appeals and obtaining reversals of decisions. Without the law we could do nothing, yet it is often uncertain. Justice perhaps should take the bandage from her eyes and administer it with seeing eyes, weighing the testimony on its merits.

THE HOME ECONOMIST.

It is possible that the man who is now deep in the mysteries of his pet seed catalogue, planning for his hot-bed and contemplating just what flowers and vegetables to plant, does not realize that he is on the advanced firing line of advanced national economy. If he cared to study up on the question he might find that the department of agriculture down at Washington has long been recommending that the people, who can devote time and space to gardens, might by their united efforts save not less than $100,000,000 to America. Profit from one small patch of ground is often a question of doubt and conjecture as to results. However if such a sum is estimated as the value of the total number of gardens in the United States it would be interesting to note where it all comes in and how the government sharps figure it out. Perhaps, if convinced, Rock country may do its share this summer towards saving this immense sum.

In early days, yes in days that were before the pioneer days in America, one farm, one estate, really furnished the living, the clothes and all the necessities of life for a small community. The feudal barons and the Franklins of England, all understood this, and while their demands were simpler, they lived like lords and enjoyed life. In the frontier days of this continent the same was true. The farm produced the food for the family. The sheep were sheared, their wool woven into cloth, the cloth made into clothes right where produced. The leather from the cattle was saved and the traveling cobbler made them into shoes and boots on his annual trips. Barter and exchange with less fortunate neighbors brought in the rest and gave luxuries that some could create and others could not.

However, we have strayed from the garden proposition and the Christian Science Monitor says there is a value in the government having brought the garden into this practical light. Consequently when your back aches from weeding think of the man's result. You are helping save that hundred millions of dollars for America.

The trouble with the amateur in the garden ordinarily is that he takes his task too seriously and too bookishly. He actually does not need to dwell long on the information that "the lessons derived from the abstract principles require to be modified to suit the special circumstances of plants under cultivation." He is certain to discover all that in actual experience and to be able presently to state it in his own words. What is needed to make his contribution to the national economy worth while is a firm grasp on a few facts and the application of them at the right time and with a due amount of exertion to the business of making things come up, and giving them a fair chance to grow when they are up.

Most garden efforts are too elaborate. There is an undue pride in garden style and in making a record for earliness, winning by half a week over the man next door who thought for a moment he was a gardener in the same class. The government's advice is to get a few seeds into a small space of prepared ground, perhaps just the city back yard, and give them the required attention with the certainty that there will be a surprising return in real vegetables. The fruits may well be left to the man who are not restrained by any wish to make a demonstration of family savings or patriotic addition to the nation's gain of a hundred millions. It is a highly practical affair and a simple one for the man with ever so little of the surface of the earth at his command and with only a few spare moments.

ON TO MEXICO CITY.

As in the days of the civil war when the cry of the northern troops was "On to Richmond," and of the southern brothers, beneath the stars and bars, "On to Washington," the rebel forces under Villa are now headed for the capital of the Mexican republic following their successful issue at Torreon. One exchange takes up the cadgers for Villa; depicts him as a true patriot living as Washington did during the revolution, on crusts and water, that his country might be free. Recalls the days when Grant was called a "drunken loafer" by his detractors, and recalls the words of Lincoln to whom complaint was made of Grant's drinking whisky. "Find out the brand so I can give some to my other generals." It pictures Villa as sleeping on the ground, of the battle field with his soldiers around him, and points in glowing colors his soulful talk as to what he hoped for his native land. Villa may be all that is painted of him, but the fact remains that the great question now is, will the victory of the rebels really solve the Mexican situation or not? Wilson is still "watchful and waiting," and Bryan is delivering chautauqua lectures at so much per "lect" while Americans are losing their lives and property in the strife-ridden country across "the Rio Grande." Meanwhile a cry rings forth, "On to the City of Mexico and Huerta."

Women are taking an active part in today's selection of school commissioner at large. It looks as though this office, which pays nothing, really is assuming more importance than has been given to it before.

The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin suggests that the new order in the navy will be, "Pipe all hands to grapple juice," just as it used to be, "Pipe all hands to grapple" in the good old days of the sailing vessels.

The vote on the repeal of the Panama canal tolls is bothering a lot of the country who do not like to see their idea turned down by anyone.

Tonight the election returns will be sought by many. There has been so much talk relative to various issues that the general public is aroused to a fever pitch.

Have you voted yet? If not, be sure and do so. Your vote may be just the one to settle the election of a commissioner or of some other important issue.

Now that election is out of the way everyone should turn to and help clean up the city. Make it the "spotless town" of southern Wisconsin.

The fate of the Janesville Water case will soon be known as the supreme court will soon pass down its opinion.

Do not miss this story written by Bannister Merwin and produced by Edison players in a two-part photoplay. It is a tale of a woman's vanity and of stock manipulation, of the suffering that big business deals often carry in their wake, and of a woman's final realization that ambition is not all.

The other photoplays on tonight's program are a little better than usual, except that you may not like the Lubin "The Laziest Man," written and produced by Romaine Fielding. Fielding puts more individuality and probably more genius into his work than any other producer, but it does not strike a responsive chord in everyone, one critic says of this, "It is heralded as a comedy—but it is far from it. It is idiotic and nauseating."

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Interesting Clipping: Allen A. Long, residing near this city, has an interesting clipping of a bill of sale from a Missouri paper. The notice is a copy of an advertisement which appeared sixty-one years ago, at the time of the California gold craze. At the close of the notice and ahead of the signature is the explanatory note: "Am sworn to California."

Elks Hold Buffet Luncheon: This evening the members of Janesville Lodge 254 B. P. O. E. will enjoy a buffet luncheon in their club rooms while watching the election returns on the screen opposite the Gazette office.

Water Rising: No trouble is expected with spring floods from the river this year and there has been fairly gradual rise and the electric company has been able to run its water wheels with no difficulty.

Marriage License: Burr L. Slater and Harriet M. Bowdin, both of the town of Magnolia, have been issued a marriage license. This is the sixty-fourth eugenic permit issued in Rock county.

Probate Court Term: A number of probate court matters scheduled for settlement on the regular April term day were disposed of today in the circuit court. Paul N. Grubb of Edgerton, R. M. Richmond of Evansville, J. C. Road and Cornelius Buckley of Beloit were out of town attorneys who were here on court business.

Circuit Court Judge: Judge Criss will be at the circuit court chambers tomorrow to consider circuit court matters which will be ready to be submitted to him at this time.

Chimney Fire: The fire department had a hard and long time in getting to answer call at the home of John Joyce, 274 Riverside street, where a clogged chimney had caught fire at half past eleven this morning. The firemen cleaned the chimney by sending a chain down the pipes, and only nominal damage was suffered.

HEAVIER VOTE THAN IN NINETEEN TWELVE

BEING CAST AT THE POLLS TODAY IN THE SPRING ELECTION.

WET OR DRY IS PROBLEM

Contest Between Milwaukee and Goodman Also Brings Out Large Vote—School Commissioners Fight Interesting—Judgeship At Stake.

Janesville is going to poll one of the largest votes that has ever been polled with the exception of the recall election vote last year. The total vote at noon today is any indication of the final count tonight. The interest appears to center on the question of "Wet or Dry," and the naming of the school commissioner. The judgeship contest is also playing an important part, as the naming of the school commissioner at large. Taking it all in all it is going to prove a most exciting contest to watch the results of.

The greatest activity is being shown by the advocates of the "wets," every automobile owned by persons interested in this cause is being used, the owners driving the cars themselves, and bringing many voters to the polls who otherwise would be unable to come. The Goodman adherents are also hard at work as well as workers for Milwaukee, and poll workers are in evidence in every ward in behalf of the various candidates and the question involved.

Hooper versus Fisher. One of the interesting contests is between J. T. Hooper and Arthur Fisher, for the judgeship at large. Hooper was placed on the ticket by having his name written in at the primaries and working in his behalf are many ladies who stand in the wind and sleet handing out leaflets and urging voters to cast their ballots for him. The Fisher adherents are also active, although not so publicly and the contest promises to be close.

Goodman versus Milwaukee. The Goodman cause is taking new angles every hour. The Fourth and Fifth are the battle grounds and the vote in these two wards shows the activity of the workers. The first is not so heavy nor is the second but the third the Milwaukee men are claiming a good sized lead. It promises to be a warm fight to the very end as the polls do not close until eight, many more votes can be cast further complicating the battle.

The Vote: The vote in the first ward at one o'clock was 355; in 1912, 235; in 1911, 269, and in 1910, 290. At the recall election it was 371.

In the second ward the vote was 238; in 1912, 235; in 1911, 269; and in 1910, 214. At the recall election it was 308.

In the third ward it was 457; in the 1912 election, 305; in 1911, 326; and in 1910, 278. At the recall election, 517.

In the fourth ward the vote was 410; in 1912, 306; in 1911, 259, and in 1910, 257. At the recall election, 498.

In the fifth ward the vote was 254; in 1912, 187; in 1911, 173; and in 1910, 134. At the recall, 245.

Late Count: This means a late count of the vote. It is understood that the first ballots will be counted at the city hall, wet and dry ones. The city ticket will come next and then the judicial ticket. The returns will be received at the Gazette office as fast as counted and will be displayed on the canvas across the street from the office.

File No Accounts IN LICENSE FIGHT

Result of Vote on Temperance Issue Today Not Thereby Invalidated, Says District Attorney.

Although neither the license nor no-license forces in the campaign filed statements of their expense accounts with the city clerk on Saturday in strict conformance with the corrupt practices act, such failure will in no way invalidate the result of the vote at the polls today, according to District Attorney Dunwiddie, to whom the question was submitted.

Mr. Dunwiddie stated, however, that if the drys or wets were organized so that they had a campaign committee with a regularly appointed disbursing officer, they must file an expense statement with the city clerk. The disbursing officer who fails to conform with the state law on this matter may be held liable.

Notable Contributors: One provision of the corrupt practices act which will be of interest to Janesville citizens with reference to the prohibition fight, inasmuch as it will show the who are the big contributors, reads as follows: "Each state ment shall give in detail:

(2) Every promise or pledge of money, property or other thing of value, received by such candidate or committee during such period the proceeds of which he uses or has used, or it is at liberty to use for political purposes, together with the date when each was so promised or pledged, together with the total amount promised or pledged, or the amount actually received, or the amount of money whatsoever.

(3) Every disbursement over five dollars in amount or value made by such candidate or committee for political purposes during such period, together with the name of every person to whom the disbursement is made, the specific purpose for which each was made, and the date when each was made, together with the total amount of disbursements made in any amount or manner whatsoever.

There are two other precincts in Rock county where the temperance question is an issue at the election today which were not mentioned in last night's Gazette. The village of Orfordville and the town of Milton, both of which have been dry territory for years, are engaged in a contest in which the wets claim to have considerable strength.

ATTENTION ELKS. Next regular meeting of Janesville Lodge No. 254, B. P. O. E., will be held Tuesday evening, April 7th, in the hall of the lodge. Other important matters will come before the lodge. Every member is requested to be present. A buffet lunch will be served.

B. H. BALDWIN, Secretary.

NO ACTION TAKEN; VERDICT DEFERRED

Such is Predicted As Answer To Governor Of Many Rock County Townships on Referendum.

"No action taken; verdict will be given in November," is said to be the answer of a number of Rock county townships to the questions submitted by Governor McGovern to a referendum vote at the town meetings today. Sentiment among a great many of the farmers who were present at the recent mass meeting held in part of the high taxes, is opposed to the action of the state officials which they believe to be a political move to save themselves if possible from further arraignment on the part of Wisconsin citizens.

WHEELBARROW NIKER HERE WITH VIOLIN

Erhard Reichl Spends Day in Janesville on His 4,000-Mile Journey—Is a Physical Culturist.

Pushing a light wheelbarrow upon which was strapped his violin and followed by his faithful Dane dog, Erhard Reichl arrived in Janesville yesterday afternoon on his 4,000 mile hike through Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Reichl started from Ironwood, Michigan on June 10th last, with his wheelbarrow, which weighs 200 pounds. He has zig-zagged through Wisconsin and Minnesota and is now on his way to Chicago. Where he can arrange it with theatrical managers he gives violin recitals at the regular performances in addition to the regular bill. He made a big hit at Madison and Stoughton and has arranged to appear at Beloit. He also hopes to get on the boards at the Majestic, Chicago.

Reichl is an exponent of physical culture and is planning to enter the Madison school in the fall. He is a well-built young man of about twenty-five years and is dressed in khaki. He planned to secure an opportunity to play during his stay in Janesville.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON COMMITTEE REPORTS FOR CITY CLEAN-UP

Civic Committee of Commercial Club Report of Sanitary Conditions of City To Be Acted On Today.

At the meeting of the city council this afternoon action will be taken on the report of the civic committee of the Commercial club as to the sanitary conditions of the city and recommendations for changes to be made. The report was presented to the directors of the club at their regular Monday noon meeting at the Grand Hotel. The following is the text of the report: "The civic committee of the Commercial club has been organized for the purpose of making a survey of the city to learn the actual conditions as they now exist, and that they may consider the results of this survey before making any recommendations."

Accordingly the city was divided into districts with a sub-committee appointed to inspect each district. The work has been made practical in that each child is shown how to be in case of need for "first aid to the injured."

That the mayor proclaim, on such date as seems best to himself and the health officer, a general clean-up day or series of days and that he cause to be posted in the streets of the city the following order: "The health officer, on or after the day of the health officer, clean up day, and remove all unsightly and all unsanitary conditions from the city as far as possible by those days. As the campaign is being conducted by the health department and the Commercial club have been called clean-up days in the past, it might give a new impetus to the 1914 clean-up day if the city could have a new name such as "Clean Day."

We believe that the proper city officials ought to more rigorously enforce the ordinances now on the books looking after dumping in the streets or in the Rock county dump, the violation of the ordinance regarding dumping in the river is very general and we believe we have found sufficient evidence of the violation of the ordinance regarding dumping in the streets to make it necessary to enforce that ordinance rigorously.

PERSONAL SAFETY IS SUBJECT IN SCHOOLS

Supt. H. C. Buell Makes Brief Report of Work Being Done By Graded School Children.

In a report, stating in brief form, the work attempted a few weeks ago in the line of nursing injuries and studying the means and methods of "Safety First," Principal H. C. Buell of the graded schools, takes up the matter as follows: "The public schools of our city are doing much in a quiet but effective way in teaching the subject of personal safety in connection with the work in hygiene and physiology. The Central State committee, which has Chicago and Northwestern railway company, has supplied each teacher with a circular of information drawing attention to the dangers of trespassing in the railroad right of way and to the need of special care at railroad crossings."

The circular emphasizes the danger of slipping cars, crawling under cars and walking tracks and railroad bridges. The slogan of "Stop! Look! Listen!" is one that every child should know so thoroughly that it becomes a habit in his life whenever he is in any way brought in contact with the movement of trains.

Through the state department of education a body of material is soon to be placed in all of the schools on the subject of general safety instruction. This material shows the danger to the common things of life such as poisons, fire, electricity, hot water, automobiles, elevators, rusty tools, Fourth of July utensils, etc. Syllabus of instruction will be given by the teachers in this place of accident prevention in the hopes of reducing both the death rate and property loss.

Through the course in emergency instruction has been introduced in the work in physiology in the intermediate grades of our schools. The work is based on the course of study as outlined by Prof. Gulick of New York City. The work is made practical in that each child is shown how to be in case of need for "first aid to the injured."

Campaign Outlay According to State-ment Filed Saturday Was $226—Goodman Spends $83.

Judge Harry L. Maxfield's campaign for election to the office of the Janesville municipal judgeship has cost him $226, according to his expense account filed at the county clerk's office Saturday. This is the largest amount filed by any of the candidates who are interested in the outcome of today's election. Edwin F. Carpenter has spent $55 and Charles H. Lange $53. Maxfield's campaign has been more expensive as it has been impossible for him to do personal work, owing to the duties of his position.

FREDERICK WETMORE SERIOUSLY INJURED IN WAGON ACCIDENT

Thirteen Year Old Boy Has Foot Caught in Wheel of Wagon Going at High Rate of Speed.

Frederick Wetmore, thirteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Wetmore, residing at 119 South Jackson street, received serious and painful injuries, having his leg broken in two places and his flesh on both limbs torn and horribly gashed when his foot caught in the wheel of a delivery wagon of the Metzinger butcher shop, driven by Courtney Courtney on South Jackson street shortly before twelve o'clock this morning. The boy was taken to the Mercy Hospital in an automobile and Dr. G. W. Fifield, who was called, was unable to determine whether amputation was necessary.

Courtney, it is alleged, was driving the Metzinger wagon down Jackson street at a high rate of speed going westward, and when he slowed up in front of the Jeffris residence and drove to the side of the street to allow the car of Chief Klein to pass, it is reported young Wetmore caught the wagon. Further down the street the boy started to climb off the wagon and in doing so his foot caught in the spokes. Before he could make an outcry to warn Courtney of his danger he was whirled around twice. Pedestrians shouting at Courtney, who stopped after the boy's foot had become entangled from the spokes. So severely was he injured that the bone protruded through the flesh and he was unconscious from the pain when he was picked up. He was hurried to the hospital and placed on the operating table and everything done to alleviate the pain.

Young Courtney expressed great sorrow over the accident and claimed that he did not know Wetmore was on his wagon until he heard him make the outcry after being thrown from the wheel.

At this afternoon physicians were alarmed when the boy collapsed from the pain and for several hours it was a grim fight for his life. Both bones were shattered below the knee but after a consultation between Dr. Fifield, E. R. Woodman and W. R. Keller, it was decided there was a good chance to save the limb and the bones were set and placed in a cast. The boy was reported resting easier at four o'clock.

COOK WOMAN AGAIN PUT UNDER ARREST

Police Make Second Raid on Up River House and Discover Woman Ordered Out of Town.

Lillian Cook is in jail again. This time she was arrested with Stewart McConnell, whom the police have been watching for the past two weeks since it is alleged he escaped with several others when a raid was made on a questionable house on North Bluff street, when three Edgerton men were caught with a woman, before Judge Maxfield this morning on statutory charges both pleaded not guilty and Judge Maxfield set their bail at five hundred dollars and their examination was set for Friday at one o'clock.

When Lillian Cook was released from the Edgerton warrant charging her with operating a house of prostitution at Edgerton, she promised to leave Rock county. Last night at one o'clock Night Sergeant Sam Brown together with Officers Patrick Fanning and Fred Albright went to the house on the river road and after rapping for the woman, who was found the pair in embarrassing circumstances. They were loaded into the patrol wagon and held over at the city hall until court this morning. Against them.

INSPECTOR OF POLICE SHOTS AND KILLS FELLOW OFFICER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, France, April 7.—Maurice Delacroix, an inspector of police, shot and killed his comrade, an intimate friend, Raymond Dupin, at police headquarters here today.
Delacroix obtained evidence last night that Dupin was alienating the affections of Madame Delacroix. The two officers met at headquarters this morning and after reporting to their chief left the office together. As the two inspectors descended the stairs Delacroix drew his revolver and shot Dupin five times, killing him instantly. Delacroix then returned to his chief and surrendered.

Will the governor's appeal to the voters on election day, to register a protest against accepting the $1,500,000 for building roads, out of the $18,000,000 they have just paid into the state treasury, be carried out? If it is, it will be under a misapprehension of their own interest, by having the question presented to them at the eleventh hour in the annual glow of a political politician who wants to hold his job.
If the people are bunched by this wily, super-jackassical petty plea of the governor and the Madison gang you can depend upon it that the reaction will be fast and furious when the imposition is discovered.—Appleton Post.

GIRLS! GROW LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR!
LUSTROUS, CHARMING—25 CENT DANDERINE

Removes every particle of dandruff, stops falling hair and is a delightful dressing.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or this.

falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A BEAUTIFUL EASTER.

SUNDAY is Easter Sunday. How are you going to celebrate it? Will you go to church in a new suit and hat and gloves, and be so conscious of your own glories, and so interested in your neighbor's glories that you can't possibly hear more than one sentence in ten of the sermon the minister faithfully persists in preaching?

Or will you stay at home because you have nothing new to wear? Or will you will do honor to the day that celebrates the most significant fact in Christianity by indulging in an unusually elaborate, indigestible meal, the kind that will make you even more completely out of harmony with the universe than is usual on Monday morning.

May I make a suggestion or two for a real Easter without sounding too preachy?

Firstly I suggest that you attend divine service in clothes to which you are sufficiently accustomed not to be distracted by them.

Secondly, I suggest that instead of making the occasion distinctive by putting new clothes on your body, you distinguish it by putting upon your heart the vestments of praise and worship.

Even if you do not belong to any church and cannot subscribe to any particular creed, you do believe in some God, some omnipotent and overshadowing spirit, some infinite and eternal power. That is, unless you are an atheist; and although atheists are fairly common, a sincere atheist is the rarest thing in the world. Find, then, the house of worship which pleases you most and there honor your conception of God on Easter day.

Next I suggest that you celebrate the day in giving the Easter gift of your presence to someone to whom it will mean much, someone who is lonely, or old, or ill, or sad. And if you take a handful of spring blossoms with you will not make yourself any less welcome. Perhaps some one of your friends has crossed the Great Divide within the past year. Go and see the family he has left. The pleasure and relief of talking about him to you, a friend, will be greater than you realize.

Again, I think a communion with the God in nature is a beautiful celebration of Easter. The springtime woods and hills and fields and streams are preaching the doctrine of the renewal of life as powerfully as the greatest minister. Go out and listen to them and come back with mind and body and soul refreshed.

And lastly, would it not be beautiful to celebrate this Easter day as a friendship resurrection. Surely there is some friend from whom you have drifted apart by reason of misunderstanding, or just because of the exacting business that eats up our days. Go and see him today. Or if that is impossible, write him a letter. Tell him the misunderstanding was all a foolish mistake; tell him that friendship is too beautiful and precious a thing to be crowded out of your lives. Tell him that today is the day which celebrates the renewal of life and that you want it to see your friendship renewed. "An old friend is better than two new ones," the Germans say. So if you can win back your old friend you will be rich indeed.

Perhaps you have been thinking that all this is too preachy, but don't you think that if you follow these few suggestions your Easter will be happier this year than it has ever been before?

THE TABLE.

Bread and Butter.—Soak the bread in cold water until well bleached. Put in a stewpan with a tablespoonful of vinegar, a small sliced onion, a blade of mace, two or three cloves, salt and pepper, one-half glass of white wine, and sufficient water to cover. Let them simmer for half an hour, and then take them out to cool; add drain. When cold, slice the bread in thin slices, dip in egg and seasoned bread crumbs, and saute in butter or nice drippings.

Mushrooms with Bacon.—Fry a few slices of bacon. When almost done turn upon them one dozen or more small mushrooms, that have been cleaned in the usual way. Fry very slowly until tender.

Drop Cakes.—One cup of butter, one-half cup of sugar, two eggs, one small teaspoonful of baking powder, one pint of flour, one cupful of washed and picked currants, one teaspoonful of each of extract nutmeg and lemon, one-half cupful of milk, rub the butter and the sugar to a white light cream, add the eggs and beat ten minutes; add the flour and baking powder sifted together, the milk and the extracts. Mix into a rather firm batter, and drop with a spoon on a greased baking-pan, bake in a quick oven ten minutes.

Beet Salad.—Boil six good-sized beets; cut off the ends and scoop out the center, leaving a wall about one-third of an inch thick. Soak in vinegar for two hours, then drain and fill with the following mixture: one cucumber, one tomato, one bunch of celery, one-half cupful of finely chopped beets, salt, and a dash of cayenne. Pour over a French dressing and serve at once.

Rosettes.—Four eggs, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a little salt; beat these together; then add one pint of milk and flour enough to make a batter. Dip hot rosette iron in the batter and fry in hot fat. Serve with garnish of currant jelly and top each with whipped cream.

Fried Corn.—Cut the corn carefully from six ears of nice sweet corn. Do not score, and be careful not to cut the hair and fry in hot fat. Serve with each grain separate. Put one tablespoonful of butter in a frying pan; put in the corn and fry until a nice brown, stirring often. Remove the pan from the fire and add a cupful of hot cream, and salt and pepper to taste. Serve at once.

Frizzled Beef and Eggs.—To every half pound of chipped beef allow half a pint of milk, one tablespoonful of flour, and one egg. Beat the flour and egg together, add the milk, and when hot add the beef and stir for about two minutes, or until the butter begins to brown, then dredge in the flour. Stir well, add the milk and a little pepper, and just before taking from the fire whip in two well-beaten eggs.

Cream Candy.—To three pounds of white sugar add one-half pint water, set over slow fire for half an hour, then add one teaspoonful gum arabic. When this is dissolved, add a tablespoonful of sugar, boil until brittle (try a little dropped in cold water); then take it off the fire and flavor with vanilla or any flavor you like. Rub hands with butter and pull until white. Then twist into sticks, or form into other shapes.

Old-Fashioned Molasses Candy.—Two cups New Orleans molasses, one cup brown sugar, one tablespoonful butter, one tablespoonful vinegar, one small teaspoon soda. Boil fast for twenty minutes, stirring all the time. Add soda just before taking off the fire and stir rapidly a moment or two into shallow pans and pull when cool enough to handle. It should not stick to the fingers if cool enough, but if necessary put a little flour or butter on the hands. If you double the quantity, boil five minutes longer.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What will remove freckles without injury to the skin? I have freckles and just hate them.

(2) What will make the hands soft and white?

(3) What do you think of a fellow when he is out with a certain girl who hugs and kisses her and is always fussing around her? He tells her she is the only one he cares for.

READER: (1) Lemon juice is the only safe thing for freckles. It will not remove very stubborn freckles. You must remove the skin to get rid of freckles, and then you will freckle quicker than ever. Use the lemon juice, bathe the face often with buttermilk and let it dry on. Put a little cold cream and powder on the face before going outdoors, wear wide-brimmed hats and a green veil to keep from getting more freckles.

(2) Soak the hands in warm oatmeal water, then rub with cold cream every night. During the day, rub in a mixture of glycerine, rosewater and lemon juice each time after having the hands in water.

(3) I presume he is fond of her, but it is possible he has the same thing to other girls who will let him. I haven't much faith in a fellow who hugs and kisses and talks love unless he talks marriage at the same time.

THANK YOU.

Women Worth While

Queen Eleonora of Bulgaria.

Countess de BER

By Selene Armstrong Harmon.

Though some of the largest embassies at Washington are presided over by American hostesses who are wives of foreign ministers and ambassadors, the greater number of women in the diplomatic corps are foreigners. One of these who does not as yet speak the English tongue, and who has been in America only a short time, is the Countess de Bertrier de Sauvigny, wife of the military attaché of the French embassy.

Count and Countess de Bertrier came to America last November, bringing with them their little son Arnold, a lad not five years old, and his indispensable English nurse who, when the Countess is simply compelled to converse with some person who does not speak French, acts as interpreter. It is not often, however, that Countess de Bertrier needs the services of an interpreter. Ask her how she keeps house in Washington without speaking the English tongue and she raises her hands in horror, as she says in rapid fire French:

"Ah, but I do not keep house. Why should I do what is so stupid to me? I let others do the housekeeping!"

What, then, does the Countess like? Is she interested in the question of woman suffrage, the inter-viewer asks just for the fun of asking. Here the expressive hands of the Countess are again raised to heaven in a gesture that bespeaks protest. The vote for women? It does not interest her. Indeed, she is convinced of one fact with regard to it. This is, that it would bore her to extinction.

One thing, however, the Countess de Bertrier likes very much. That is a spirited horse. Riding, she explains, is her favorite recreation. Here the little English nurse, who is so interestingly interested in the interview, and in everything being set down, correctly (American newspapers sometimes get things mixed, she says apologetically) hastens to add that Count and Countess de Bertrier keep a string of the finest horses in Brittany.

It is in Brittany at their beautiful place, Chateau de Rosaires, that the de Bertriers will spend the coming summer. The chateau is one of the most picturesque on the Brittany coast, with fine gardens and driveways adding to its attractiveness. Here Countess de Bertrier rides horseback every day. She is also fond of winter sports, and is perfectly at ease on ice skates, or skating.

Countess de Bertrier is fond of amateur theatricals, and this winter has had roles in several of the plays organized for charity by the Viscountess d'Azay and others of the smart set in Washington.

Count and Countess de Bertrier keep a house in Paris to which they will go for a few weeks late this spring. Before her marriage, the Countess was Marie Louise Chalmeton de Broly. She has that vivacity and smartness characteristic of the French women in the higher walks of life, and during her stay in Washington has made many friends in the diplomatic corps and in resident society.

Equality of Strength in Arms.

Equality of strength in both arms occurs almost twice as frequently with women as with men, more men than women being stronger in the right arm than in the left.

SCALP TROUBLE FOR OVER TEN YEARS

Small Bunches on Scalp. Itched, Formed Scale. Hair Came Out. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured in Two Months.

208 Harrison St., Elyria, Ohio. — "My case was a scalp trouble. I noticed small bunches on my scalp which commenced to itch and I would scratch them and in time they got larger, forming a scale or scab with a little pus, and chunks of hair would come out when I would scratch them off. It caused me to lose most of my hair. It became thin and dry and lifeless. I was troubled for over ten years with it until I got so bad I was ashamed to go to a barber to get my hair cut.

"I tried everything I could get hold of, but received no cure until I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment when the scale commenced to disappear. The way I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment was to wash my scalp twice a day with warm water and Cuticura Soap and rub on the Cuticura Ointment. I received relief in a couple of weeks and was cured in two months." (Signed) E. J. Bushner, Jan. 28, 1913.

Why not have a clear skin, soft white hands, a clean scalp and good hair? It is your birthright. Cuticura Soap with an occasional use of Cuticura Ointment will bring about these coveted conditions in most cases when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 22-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kothlow will soon be located in the house recently purchased by C. Sherman.

C. Sherman was in Milton Junction recently visiting his daughter, Mrs. Wilman.

IF MEALS SOUR AND TURN INTO GAS, TAKE SODA

When everything we eat turns to gas and we eructate sour food and acid fluids it means there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, says a noted authority. This irritating acid retards the process of digestion and promotes food fermentation. Our meals sour in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon, causing a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, constant belching of gas, sour risings or heartburn, fullness and often nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy a package of 10 grain Soda-gen tablets and take one tablet every time followed by a tumbler of water which will instantly neutralize acidity, stop food fermentation, absorb the gases and sweeten the entire digestive system.

He further states that those troubled with chronic acidity should take one tablet regularly, an hour after meals for awhile, as this simple antacid is entirely harmless, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

DEPARTMENT SHOWS VALUE OF CANNING EGGS FOR MARKET

Experiments by Federal Agriculture Men Demonstrate That Eggs Can be Successfully Canned.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, April 6.—"One can of condensed milk, a can of asparagus tips, a can of beans, a can of beef and a can of eggs."

When the American grocer answers his telephone a few years hence he will probably get some such an order, for the Department of Agriculture is doing much to encourage the canning of eggs and claims that there are more logical reasons for canned eggs than for almost any other food product sold in tins.

For one thing canned eggs will be cheaper than eggs in the shell for they will have been put up in the great egg producing farm corn belt at a time when hens are laying and fresh eggs are almost a drug on the market. The cans can be shipped in refrigerators, cars closely packed and there will be no waste space for cardboard packing, while the present 10 per cent loss for breakage will be saved.

Before the Department endorsed the canning of eggs its specialists made a unit and through bacteriological study of eggs to determine what changes they underwent and what factors made them spoil. This spoiling was found to be due almost entirely to growing bacteria in the egg—a little warmth and a little air and the damage was done. With other products the secret was found to be absolute cleanliness and heat. With eggs it is the same, cleanliness combined with good grading and cold.

Canned eggs have been tested after having been kept in storage a year and their quality and flavor found unimpaired. As one investigator put it, the chief difference was that you opened them with a can opener instead of a spoon. They come to the consumer frozen and when melted they look and smell like fresh eggs broken into a bowl and stirred until the whites and yolks are mixed, except that they are a little thicker. Similar experiments have been made with dried eggs or eggs powder, and this, too, will keep for months provided it is kept in a dry, cool place, and is not exposed to moisture, therefore, that canned or dried eggs will be ever displaced on store shelves.

An egg canning plant, which the Department regards as a standard one, is like the modern refrigerator room of a hospital than a commercial institution. The eggs on their arrival at the plant are sent to a chilled room and kept there for 24 hours at a temperature of few degrees above freezing. They then are candied and all suspicious ones are discarded.

The graded eggs then go to a refrigerator room that is as aseptic and as well lighted as it is possible to make it. No dust or flies can get in and the temperature never rises above 55 degrees. It is water tight and steam proof so that it can be washed and steamed throughout. The utensils for breaking the eggs are all metal so they can be sterilized in live steam. Before beginning work the operatives sterilize their hands much as a surgeon does before beginning an operation. The sterilization also extends to the donning of clean white caps and gowns.

Each egg is broken into a separate cup and inspected before being put into a sterilized can. Every doubtful egg is discarded, the cup again sterilized and the operatives hands washed before touching another egg. In order to make certain that each egg gets sufficient attention the egg canners are not allowed to exceed a definite number of eggs per hour.

The canning of eggs is of immense benefit to the farmer because it provides him with a steady market for his surplus eggs. It is imperative that he dispose of his product in a hurry. It is also a market for small eggs, dark shelled eggs and other varieties that do not sell well in the shell.

Eats Freely But Has No Dyspepsia

A Little Pepsin in a Mild Laxative Promptly Corrected a Bad Indigestion.

J. W. GOUCHER

Fortunate is the one who can eat "anything" without suffering the tortures of dyspepsia, but as few are so fortunate, care should be taken in the matter of diet. Eating slowly, masticating the food thoroughly and taking a short walk after the heavy meal of the day will do much towards assisting digestion. Any grown-up person ought to know the peculiar foods that do not agree, and these should be avoided.

When these common-sense aids fail, the next thing to do is to take a mild digestive tonic with laxative properties, and there is none better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains the greatest of all aids to digestion, good pepsin. It has other ingredients that act mildly on the bowels which together form a combination for the relief of dyspepsia or indigestion that is unsurpassed.

Its action is to tone and strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that they can again do their work naturally without outside aid, and when that happy moment comes all medicine can be dispensed with. It is the best remedy obtainable for any disorder of the stomach, liver and bowels, for dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, headaches, drowsiness, heart failure, gas, flatulency, etc. Thousands of users will testify to this, among them Mr. J. W. Goucher, Stites, Idaho, who for several years had all the worst symptoms of chronic dyspepsia. Since taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin these have all gone, and although Mr. Goucher says he is 64, he does not look more than 40.

Syrup Pepsin is sure in its results, and a vast improvement over chewing or swallowing tablets and mints, or taking cathartics, salts, etc., all of which are harsh and nauseous and at best do but temporary good. You can obtain Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Get Sugar in Other Ways.

It is significant that the nations who consume the most oil and light wines, all of which contain greater or less amounts of compounds of carbon and water, consume the least sugar per capita. The natives of Italy, Greece and Turkey, for example, consume annually but one-twelfth of the amount of sugar per capita that is consumed by the natives of Great Britain.—American Food Journal.

DRINK HABIT

TWO NERVOUS WOMEN

Made Well By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I had a severe case of nervous prostration, with palpitation of the heart, constipation, headaches, dizziness, noise in my ears, timid, nervous, restless feelings and sleeplessness."

"I read in the paper where a young woman had been cured of the same troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I threw away the medicines the doctor left me and began taking the Compound. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to sit up and in a short time I was able to do all my work. Your medicine has proved itself able to do all you say it will and I have recommended it in every household I have visited."—Mrs. MARY JOHNSTON, 210 Siegel Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Bad Case.
Ephrata, Pa.—"About a year ago I was down with nervous prostration. I was pale and weak and would have hysterical spells, sick headaches and a bad pain under my shoulder-blade. I was under the care of different doctors but did not improve. I was so weak I could hardly stand long enough to do my dishes."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me well and happy and I have begun to gain in weight and my face looks healthy now."—Mrs. J. W. HORNBERGER, R. No. 3, Ephrata, Pa.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Modifiers of half-consciousness, or consciousness jumbled with strange imaginings, followed. At times he felt the pressure upon the wounded foot, was sensible of the suction of the young mouth striving desperately to draw the poison from the wound.

From time to time he was conscious of a white desperate face haloed with hair that was a mist of woven sparkles. At times he thought himself a recumbent stone statue in a wood, and her a great tall golden-headed flower lying broken at his feet. Again he was a granite boulder and she a vine with yellow leaves winding and clinging about him. Then a blank—a sense of movement and of troubled disturbance, of insistent voices that called to him and inquisitive hands that plucked at him, and then voices growing distant again, and hands falling away, and at last—silence.

Inky clouds were gathering over the sunlight when Shirley came from Damory Court, along the narrow wood-path under the hemlocks, and the way was striped with blue-black shadows and filled with sighing noises. She walked warily, halting often at some leafy rustle to catch a quick breath of dread. As she approached the tree-roots where the cape jessamines lay, she had to force her feet forward by sheer effort of will. At a little distance from them she broke a stick and with it managed to drag the bunch to her, turning her eyes with a shiver from the trampled spot near by. She picked up the flowers, and treading with caution, retraced her steps to the wider path.

She stepped into the Red Road at length in the teeth of a thunder-storm, which had arisen almost without warning to break with the passionate intensity of electric storms in the South. There was no shelter, but even had there been, she would not have sought it. The turbulence of nature around her matched, in a way, her overstrained feeling, and she welcomed the fierce bulge of the wind in the up-blowing whorls of her hair and the drenching wetness of the rain. She tried to fix her mind on near things, the bending grasses, the scurrying red runnels and flapping shrubbery, but her thoughts wildly escaped, the tether turning again and again to the events of the last two hours. She pictured Uncle Jefferson's eyes rolling up in ridiculous alarm, his winnowing arm flashing his indignant mule in his fight for the doctor.

At the mental picture she choked with hysterical laughter, then cinged suddenly against the sopping bark. She saw again the doctor's gaze lift from his first examination of the tiny punctures to send a swift penetrant glance at her, before he bent his great body to carry the unconscious man to the house. Again a fit of shuddering swept over her. Then, all at once, tears came, strangling sobs that bent and awayed her. It was the discharge of the Leyden jar, the loosening of the tense bow-string and it brought relief. After a time she grew quieter. He would get well! The thought that perhaps she had saved his life gave her a thrill that ran over her whole body. And until yesterday she had never seen him! She knelt in the blurred half-light, pushing her wet hair back from her forehead and smiling up in the rain that still fell fast. In a few moments she rose and went on. At the gate of the Rosewood lane stood a mail-box of a cedar post and she paused to fish out a dragged Richmond newspaper. As she thrust it under her arm her eye caught a word of a headline. With a flush she tore it from its soggy wrapper, the wetted fiber parting in her eager fingers, and resting her foot on the lower rail of the gate, spread it open on her knee.

She stood stock-still until she had read the whole. It was the story of John Valiant's sacrifice of his private fortune to save the ruin of the inherited corporation. Its effect upon her was a shock. She felt her throat swell as she read; then she was chilled by the memory of what she had said to him: "What has he ever done except play polo and furnish spicy paragraphs for the society columns?"

"What a beast I was!" she said, addressing the wet hedge. "He had just done that splendid thing. It was because of that that he was little better than a beggar, and I said those horrible things!" Again she bent her eyes, rereading the sentences: "Took his detractors by surprise. . . . had just sustained a grilling at the hands of the state's examiner which might well have dried at their fount the springs of sympathy."

She crushed up the paper in her hand and rested her forehead on the wet rail. Idiotically rich—a vandal—a useless, purse-proud flaneur. She had called him all that! She could still see the paleness of his look as she had said it.

Shirley, overexcited as she still was, felt the sob returning. These, however, did not last long, and in a moment she found herself smiling again. Though she had hurt him, she had saved him, too! When she whispered this over to herself it still thrilled and startled her. She folded the paper and hastened on under the cherry-trees.

Emmaline, the negro maid was waiting anxiously on the porch. She was thin to sparseness, with a face as brown as a tobacco leaf, restless black eyes and wool neatly pinned and set off by an amber comb.

"Honey," called Emmaline, "I've been fearin' fo' yo' wild all that lightnin' rarin' around. Yo' got th' jessamine? Give 'em to Emmaline. She'll fix 'em all nice, jes' how Miss Judith like."

"All right, Emmaline," replied Shirley. "And I'll go and dress. Has mother missed me?"

"No'm. She ain't lef' hah room this whole blessed day. Now yo' barti's all ready—all 'cep'n th' hot watch, 'en I sen' Ransome with that th' fust thing. Yo' hurry on peel them wet close off yo' self, or yo' have one o' them digested chillas."

Her young mistress down and the hot water despatched, the negro woman spread a cloth on the floor and began to cut and dress the long stalks of the flowers. This done she fetched bowls and vases, and set the pearls white clumps here and there on the dining-room sideboard, the hall mantel and the desk of the living-room—till the delicate fragrance filled the house, quite vanquishing the rose-scent from the arbores.

As the trim colored woman moved lightly about in the growing dusk, with the low click of glass and muffled clash of silver, the light tat-tat of a cane sounded, and she ran to the hall, where Mrs. Dandridge was descending the stairway, one slim white hand holding the banister, under the edge of a white silk shawl which drooped its heavy fringes to her daintily-shod feet. On the lower step she halted, looking smilingly about at the blossoming bowls.

"Don't they smell up th' whole house?" said Emmaline. "I knowd yo' be pleas, Miss Judith. Now put yo' han' on mah shouldah 'en I take yo' to yo' big cha'n."

They crossed the hall, the dusky form bending to the fragile pressure of the fingers. "Now heah's yo' cha'n. Ransome he made up a little fah jes' to take th' damp out, 'en th' big lamp's lit, 'en Miss Shirley'll be down right quick."

A moment later, in fact, Shirley descended the stair, in a filmy gown of India-mustin, with a narrow belting of gold, against whose flowing sleeves her bare arms showed with a flushed pinkness the hue of the pale coral beads about her neck. The damp newspaper was in her hand. At her step her mother turned her head; she was listening intently to voices that came from the garden—a child's shrill treble opposing Ransome's stentorian grumble.

"Listen, Shirley. What's that Ransome is telling Ransome?"

"Don't yo' come heah wid yo' no-count play-actin'. Cyn' fool Ransome wid no sich snok-story, neidah. Ain' no moos'in at Damry Co't, 'en neb-bah was!"

"There was, too!" insisted Ricker. "One bit him and Miss Shirley found him and sent Uncle Jefferson for Doctor Southall and it saved his life! So there! Doctor Southall told Mrs. Justice. And he isn't a man who's just come to fix it up, either; he's the really truly man that owns it!"

"Who on earth is that child talking about?"

Shirley put her arm around her mother and kissed her. Her heart was beating quickly. "The owner has come to Damory Court. He—"

The small book Mrs. Dandridge held fell to the floor. "The owner! What owner?"

"Mr. Valiant—Mr. John Valiant. The son of the man who abandoned it so long ago." As she picked up the fallen volume and put it into her mother's hands, Shirley was startled by the whiteness of her face.

"Dearest!" she cried. "You are ill. You shouldn't have come down."

"No. It's nothing. I've been shut up all day. Go and open the other window."

Shirley threw it wide. "Can I get your salts?" she asked anxiously.

Her mother shook her head. "No," she said, almost sharply. "There's nothing whatever the matter with me. Only my nerves aren't what they used to be, I suppose—and snakes always did get on them. Now, give me the gist of it first. I can wait for the rest. There's a tenant at Damory Court. And his name's John—Valiant. And he was bitten by a moccasin. When?"

"This afternoon."

Mrs. Dandridge's voice shook. "Will he—will he recover?"

"Oh, yes."

"Beyond any question?"

"The doctor says so."

"And you found him, Shirley—"

"I was there when it happened."

She had crouched down on the rug in her favorite posture, her coppery hair against her mother's knee, catching strange reddish overtones like molten metal, from the shaded lamp. Mrs. Dandridge fingered her cane nervously. Then she dropped her hand on the girl's head.

"Now," she said, "tell me all about it."

CHAPTER XV.

The Anniversary.

The story was not a long one, though it omitted nothing: the morning fox-hunt and the identification of the new arrival at Damory Court as the owner of yesterday's stalled motor; the afternoon raid on the jessamine, the conversation with John Valiant in the woods.

Mrs. Dandridge, gazing into the fire, listened without comment, but more than once Shirley saw her hands clasp themselves together and thought, too, that she seemed strangely pale. The swift and tragic sequel to that meeting was the hardest to tell, and as she ended she put up her hand to her shoulder, holding it hard. "It was horrible!" she said. Yet now she did not shudder. Strangely enough, the sense of loathing which had been surging over her at recurrent intervals ever since that hour in the wood, had vanished utterly!

"GETS-IT" for Corns

Nothing in the World World Can It for Corns and Calluses.

Now try the different way, the new way, the absolutely sure way, the painless way, of getting rid of those corns that have pestered the like and soul out of you for such a long time. Drop everything else and use "GETS-IT." A few drops applied in a few seconds does the work. Useless junk, like flesh-eating salves that make corns swell, cotton rings that make corns stand up like pop-pops, razors, corn diggers, scissors and files that make corns grow faster, are all done for. "GETS-IT" is on a new principle, makes corns shrivel, vanish! It can't stick to the stocking, or hurt the flesh.

"GETS-IT" is sold by all druggists, 25c. a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

"I Feel Like Hugging Somebody. My Corns Are Gone At Last. 'GETS-IT' Did It."

Dinner Stories

Trying out a new car on a country road, the demonstrator stopped to pick up an old farmer who looked as if he might like a ride and who admitted that it was his first experience in an automobile. The machine was hitting a pretty good clip when it skidded on a soft spot and ran into a tree. Nobody was hurt, but as the ruralite picked himself up he said to the motorist: "Well, that was goin' some. But say, mister, there's one thing I'd like to ask ye. How do you stop one of these here contraptions where there ain't no trees?"

"Well, John," said the doctor, who had been rather rudely roused from his afternoon nap, "what's wrong with you?"

"I've sprained my wrist rather badly, sir," explained the blacksmith of the village.

The doctor examined the wrist and looked grave.

"Thomas," he called to his surgery boy, "go upstairs and bring down that phial on the table."

With indignation in his face, the blacksmith started to his feet.

"File!" he yelled. "No, you don't! If this hand's got to come off, you'll use a knife or an ax!"

No Unseen Blush There!

Gray had just written "Full many a flower is born to blush unseen."

"Not on your life," we assured him. "Smith's chickens can see them three inches under ground."

By Frederic J. Haskin

Author of "The American Government"

The Jansville Gazette, April 7.

Colonel Goethals says: "Accurate and Dependable"

HOW TO GET THIS BOOK

On account of the educational value and patriotic appeal of this book, The Jansville Gazette has arranged with Mr. Haskin to distribute a limited edition among its readers for the mere cost of production and handling. It is bound in heavy cloth. It contains 400 pages, 100 illustrations and diagrams, an index, and two maps (one of them a beautiful bird's eye view of the Canal Zone in four colors). IT IS ACTUALLY A $2.00 VALUE.

Cut the above coupon from six consecutive issues of the paper, present them with 50 cents at our office, and a copy of the book is yours. Fifteen cents extra if sent by mail.

OUR GUARANTEE: This is not a money-making scheme. The Jansville Gazette will not make a penny of profit from this campaign. It has undertaken the distribution of this book solely because of its educational merit and whatever benefit there is to be derived from the good will of those who profit from our offer. The Jansville Gazette will cheerfully refund the price of the book to any purchaser who is not satisfied with it. Present Six Coupons of Consecutive Dates fifteen cents extra if sent by mail.

"It isn't the things you do dear,
It's the things you leave undone;
That gives you the little heart-ache
At the setting of the sun."

That isn't quoted right, we know it! We only want to say in connection with these verses that it is generally the things we leave undone that gives us the leanness of purse that the most of us find so blamed distressing.

For instance: we planned to dispose of all our spare and useless house-furnishings this Spring. We put off advertising the fact that we had a surplus lot of furniture until there had been so many sales of this kind that we were discouraged.

We knew the power of the want ad columns through the telling of a friend, but we simply delayed. She sold her old furniture and purchased a new round dining table that she had wanted for the past three years. As they were not as well fixed as they would like to be, they needs must make haste slowly. However the want ad page helped her to obtain her table. Wish I'd been as far-seeing!
